

I am opposed to any regulatory changes that make it easier for a company or corporation to own more media outlets, or to consolidate media outlets. I am in favor of regulation that helps diversify the media available to the public, and that makes it easier for small, independent media sources to continue to operate independently and with the same available access that larger media companies enjoy.